The University Club is delighted to have the new IMU Director, Hank Walter, as our keynote speaker this year. Hank has deep roots in Bloomington and IU through his family. His late father-in-law, Dick Rubin, was one of the original faculty members at SPEA where he worked for 33 years. His wife, Elizabeth, grew up in Bloomington, and has two degrees from IU. His mother-in-law also received her master's degree from IU and worked for the IU Foundation before taking a job at the Monroe County Public Library. "We've been to Bloomington twice a year for a number of years now," Walter said. "I really feel connected to IU through my family."

Hank has leadership experience at two Big Ten Universities. He spend 12 years as associate director for programs at the University of Illinois' union and has served as chief operating officer of the University of Wisconsin's union since 2005. "The IMU is an icon in the college union profession," he said. "It is one of those special places that other unions have benchmarked themselves against. It's got a national and international reputation. It's an honor to be a part of that." We think this is a special place too! Thanks Hank!
